

2009 Astros Play Green™

HLS Enterprises has once again teamed up with the Houston Astros, Keep Houston Beautiful and Tree Town USA for the “Home Runs for Trees” program. A tree will be planted for every home run an Astros player hits at Minute Maid Park this season.

On April 22, 2008, Earth Day, the Astros launched their Play Green™ campaign. Brad Ausmus and Mark Loretta were the 2008 spokesmen. The “Home Runs for Trees” program resulted in 92 trees being planted in Houston for the 2008 season.

The 2009 Astros Play Green™ Ambassadors are Hunter Pence and Geoff Blum. In June, Geoff Blum helped plant trees along the trails located at Sawyer Heights Street. The 29 trees represented the home runs hit by the Astros players during the months of April and May.
